In the National Spotlight

by John Ettore

With southpaw William Jefferson Clinton arriving with his entourage to throw out the first pitch and The Plain Dealer choosing the occasion to unveil its first full-color front page, Cleveland Indians fans could hardly miss the fact that Opening Day '94 was unlike any other in the previous 126 years of franchise history.

What prompted the 42nd President and the century-and-a-half-old local newspaper to mark the moment so emphatically was the inaugural of Jacobs Field, the third home for the Major League club. With its 19 striking light towers and its handsomely durable masonry and exposed-steel exterior smoothly blending into the nearby Cuyahoga River bridges and the downtown skyline, the ballpark and the larger multimillion dollar sports and entertainment complex of which it is part won immediate praise across the country. "Gateway is more than a sports complex," even the distant Seattle Post-Intelligencer recognized. "It is a civic renaissance."

In the flush of excitement over the new ballpark, some extraordinary opinions spilled forth from the thousands of words written and spoken about the park by the nation's media. One Chicago writer even went so far as to speculate that the new ballpark might finally help "staunch the endless stream of Cleveland jokes."

"The modern-day Cleveland is the essence of baseball in America, the greatest example of what the game can do for a city... Like so many classic parks of the past, Jacobs Field is built within the confines of the city... They built for the future, ditched the past and created one hell of a present."

—Bruce Jenkins,
San Francisco Chronicle

The park was designed and built by Hellmuth, Obata & Kassabaum Sports Facilities Group of Kansas City, which also designed the new Comiskey Park for the Chicago White Sox and the widely admired new home of the Baltimore Orioles, Camden Yards. It was financed through a public-private partnership.

The Indians new ballpark is filled with both world-class amenities and small touches designed to enrich the experience of viewing Major League baseball.

They range from the spectacular, enclosed Terrace Club dining facility to the convenient KidsLand section. The ballpark boasts impressive leg room in each of its 42,400 seats, as well as the largest free-standing scoreboard in the United States, which includes a Sony JumboTron full-color instant replay board. And the press box behind home plate accommodates 120, approximately double the capacity of Cleveland Stadium's press box.

Wherever possible, the Indians have linked the new ballpark with the franchise's rich past. One example is the half-acre Indians Square just off East 9th Street, which is dominated by an impressive statue of Indians Hall of Famer Bob Feller.

For the Indians, the new field is a culmination of a comprehensive plan for the franchise carried out since the brother team of Richard and David Jacobs purchased the team in 1986. In 1992, the club's "Blueprint for Success" mapped out a strategy of building a winning organization by investing in home-grown player development, supplemented by a few key acquisitions through the free agent market. The opening of the new ballpark provided the last piece of the franchise's comeback puzzle.

Which brings us back to the opening of the 1994 baseball season on April 4th, and to the subsequent arrival of a flood of the nation's critics. The Wall Street Journal's quirky and literate sportswriter Frederick C. Klein

TRIBE RADIO

Former Cleveland Indians pitching star HERB SCORE is beginning his 32nd season broadcasting Indians baseball in 1995.

The lefthander will team up with Tom Hamilton to provide commentary for all 162 regular season games and 23 spring training contests on Sports Radio WKNR, 1220 on the AM dial. WKNR, Cleveland's all-sports station, is in its fourth year as the radio home of the Indians.

Score began his broadcasting career in 1964 as a color commentator on Indians TV telecasts. Herb took over as the radio play-by-play man in 1968. His legendary fastball helped him gain American League "Rookie of the Year" honors in 1955, becoming the first of four Tribesmen to do so to date. Herb posted a 16-10 record and a 2.85 ERA in '55, while setting the record for strikeouts in a season by a rookie pitcher with 245, a mark which stood until 1984 when it was broken by the Mets Dwight Gooden. The number still represents the AL Rookie mark. Score followed up those impressive numbers with a fine 20-9 mark with a 2.53 ERA in 1956. He also struck out 263 in just 249.1 innings of work. Herb was selected to the American League All-Star team in both '55 and '56.

Score concluded his eight-year big league career with a 55-46 mark and a fine 3.36 ERA. He struck out 837 in 858.1 innings pitched.

Herb and his wife Nancy have four children: Judith, David, Mary Kay and the late Susan; and six grandchildren: Kaily Ann, Brian Jude, Tyler, Kevin, Daniella and Emily. The Scores reside in Rocky River, OH.

TOM HAMILTON enters his sixth season as a Tribe broadcaster. He came to the Indians after spending three seasons as a broadcaster for the AAA Columbus Clippers, the top farm club of the New York Yankees.

Previously, Hamilton worked in Milwaukee, Appleton, Watertown and Shell Lake, Wisconsin.

Some of Tom's broadcasting credits include the University of Wisconsin football games, University of Colorado basketball games, Appleton Foxes minor league baseball games and work for ABC Radio.

During the off-season, Tom is the television play-by-play voice for the Ohio State Buckeyes and Big 10 Basketball.

Hamilton is a native of Waterloo, WI. Tom resides in Bay Village, OH, with his wife, Wendy and two children, Nicholas and Kelsey.

TRIBE TELEVISION

WUAB-TV 43, the television home of the Indians, will telecast 61 games in 1995.

JACK CORRIGAN will return for his eleventh season in the Indians television broadcast booth for the 1995 campaign.

A native Clevelander, Corrigan is no stranger to northeast Ohio sports fans. In addition to his work with the Tribe, Jack handled the play-by-play and color commentary duties for the Cleveland Cavs telecasts for five years and also handled television duties for the MISL Cleveland Force for three years. He was the northern Ohio correspondent for the Entertainment and Sports Programming Network (ESPN) for ten years.

Jack is a graduate of St. Ignatius High School and Cornell University, and has a master's degree in speech from Kent State University. During the off-season, Jack also coaches football at St. Ignatius, AAA State Champions six of the last seven years. He and his wife Lisa have two children, Megan and Michael, and reside in North Royalton, OH.

MIKE HEGAN is in his seventh season as a Tribe broadcaster in 1995, teaming up with Jack Corrigan on 61 games that will be broadcast by WUAB-TV 43.

Hegan came to the Indians in 1989 after 11 seasons as a Milwaukee Brewers television announcer. Prior to his broadcasting career, he played 12 years in the Major Leagues (1964-77) with the New York Yankees, Seattle Pilots, Milwaukee Brewers and the Oakland A's. The former 1st baseman-outfielder represented Seattle in the 1969 All-Star Game and played on the 1972 World Championship Oakland A's team. Mike is the son of former Indians catcher, Jim Hegan, who played with the Tribe for 14 seasons.

In 1985, Hegan began operating "Grand Slam U.S.A.," an indoor baseball practice and instructional facility located in the Milwaukee area. Mike and his wife Nancy reside in Mequon, WI with their sons, Shawn and J.J.

This annual program enlists corporate support for each home run hit during the season by the United

United Way Home Run Derby

Way Home Run Derby player chairman. For doing what he does best, Albert Belle has helped raise more than $108,000 in four years for United Way through the Derby. In eight years, Tribe sluggers have been instrumental in raising more than $200,000 for United Way's area programs and services.

CLEVELAND INDIANS CHARITIES

Cleveland Indians Charities was established in 1989 with the purpose of making a Major League impact in the areas of youth education and recreation. Through fund raising events such as the CIC Golf Classic, Stop-n-Shop's Wahoo Winter/SpringFest, Jacobs Field tours, the CIC Luncheon Series and several concourse game booths, nearly $500,000 has been raised for numerous organizations in Northeast Ohio during the past six years.

Some organizations and programs that benefit from CIC's efforts are: Boys & Girls Clubs of Cleveland, Luke Easter Park, the Community Fund for Assisting Missing Youth (A.M.Y.), Shoes for Kids, Rookie League, RBI, Cleveland Indians Academy, United Way, the United Negro College Fund, Cleveland Baseball Federation and Esperanza.

CLEVELAND INDIANS ACADEMY

In its second year at Joseph M. Gallagher Middle School, the Cleveland Indians Academy is helping students at risk of dropping out achieve and stay in school. They are learning social and academic skills to help them succeed in high school and in life. The four major components of the program include: academic instruction, support services, mentoring/job experiences and transition into high school. Through Cleveland Indians Charities, the Academy will receive $150,000 during a three-year period.

cleveland indians rookie league

The Rookie League program has once again grown in size, with 2,800 kids in Cleveland participating at area recreation centers in 1994. Through the use of a pitching machine, participants ages 7-12 learn the basic fundamentals of baseball. Teams adopt the name of a current Indians player as their team namesake and Tribe players randomly visit participating centers during the season. Last year's program included a single elimination tournament at Gordon Park and the championship All-Star game and clinic (with over 700 participants) at Jacobs Field.
